Timeless Entertainment at The Clayton Center

It seems as if we just closed the curtains on last season, and here we are with opening night of the 2014-2015 Palladian Series only a few months away. We are excited to present our season schedule, and we're sure you'll agree that this year's shows offer a great blend of entertainment options.

Whether you're a fan of music or comedy — or musical comedy — there's something for every taste this season. We're offering the political satire of The Capitol Steps and the sweet, yet sassy humor of North Carolina's own Jeanne Robertson. We have the music of the Beatles, classic country & western, and a big band sound reminiscent of the Rat Pack. You'll recognize old favorites and discover the talents of new faces who introduce themselves for the first time on our stage.

We invite you to read through the schedule and make note of the performances you want to enjoy. Once you've made your selections, give us a call or go online to select the best seats in the house. We don't want you to miss a moment of timeless entertainment.
