

Who we are

Just a few miles from Lenoir in western North Carolina is a 375-acre campground nestled on the border of the Pisgah National Forest in a spur of the Blue Ridge Mountains. With miles upon miles of trails to traverse in the forest and a lovely camp to enjoy, the Anita Alta campground is a fabulous place from which to enjoy this portion of the Appalachians. This campground is managed by the Blue Ridge Horseman's Association.

BLUE RIDGE HORSEMAN'S ASSOCIATION

Horse campers will welcome Anita Alta's primitive setting. Preset high-line posts are available and the camp is friendly to the use of portable corrals. An added bonus, when you're not exploring the miles of horse trails the campground also offers a fishing pond, creeks to play in and even waterfalls and caves to discover.

Despite the pleasant distractions, you'll want to spend most of your time in the saddle. The riding area that can be accessed directly from Anita Alta covers nearly 12 square miles of hills, ridge tops, and ravines with almost 50 miles of well-marked and maintained trails that wind and loop under dense forests of Oak,

Hickory, and Beech. In the ravines, you will be stunned by the Mountain Laurel, Rhododendron and creeks spilling down the mountain sides. It'll take you several days to cover all the trails and then you'll want to ride them again for a second and third time.

BRHA

There's always plenty of camping space at Anita-Alta! We have highline posts and room for your own portable corrals. Creek access is available from many campsites. Generators may not be run during camp quiet hours from 11pm to 7am. Please keep dogs on your campsite or leashed. Our campground is open to BRHA members and their guests. No guest is allowed to camp after 11pm except on special "Open Weekends". A parking fee of $3 applies to anyone bringing a vehicle into the campground.
