THE HISTORIC

Buffalo Tavern

BED AND BREAKFAST
Ashe County, North Carolina

Historic (c.1872) Buffalo Tavern Bed and Breakfast is located in the North Carolina Blue Ridge Mountains near West Jefferson, Blowing Rock and Boone, North Carolina in Ashe County.

Enjoy a private getaway in a beautiful mountain and country setting that is only a short drive to downtown West Jefferson Arts District, area attractions including historic Todd and Glendale Springs, and a scenic 30 minute drive to Boone and Blowing Rock.

In season, the ski areas of the High Country are only a short drive.

There are three guest rooms, all with a queen-size bed, private bath with shower, fireplace with electric logs, two-person clawfoot soaking tub, satellite television and wireless Internet. Choose from the Governor's Room, the Flapper's Room, or the Madam's Room, each with their own "style" and appeal.

Or you can enjoy the wonderful and secluded President's Suite. It boasts a large bathroom with two sinks and a two-person tub/shower. There is a kitchenette with refrigerator, microwave and utensils. The bedroom has a 4-poster bed, electric fireplace, antiques, clawfoot tub, satellite television and wireless Internet.

Guests love the "feel" of the Suite.

A full country breakfast is served in the American Dining Room at 9:00am. Complimentary snacks and soft drinks are available.

Buffalo Tavern is a relaxing and romantic retreat with first class hospitality and atmosphere.
